EXHIBIT B

The first cemetery in the Midway area was called "upper cemetery," and a little later Mound Cemetery. The earliest known people buried there are in the Book, How Beautiful Upon the Mountain, Page 661.

Names:

Julia Jameyma Gerber, daughter of Dr. John and Anna Maria Acheret Gerber, pioneers of 1864. She died March 23, 1864 and was buried in upper cemetery. Her son, Ira Julian lived only 16 days after birth, March 23, 1864, died on April 2, 1864 and was buried in the same grave site as his mother. Dr. John Gerber died November 22, 1870 and was buried in the Mound Cemetery as recorded In Deseret News paper report December 1, 1870.

The private property, the Northeast 1/4 of the Southeast 1/2 of Section 28, Salt Lake Base and Meridian. This land was patented by Simon Schneider June 6, 1903 at 10:00 a.m. and as recorded on Page 433 and Page 434 as recorded in the Wasatch County Recorder's Office, Heber City, Utah.

The cemetery and the road leading to it preceded the private ownership of adjoining land by ³⁹₃₁ years and this cemetery and the road leading to it has had continual usage since that time.

The first campaign in the highway site was called "upper campaign" and a little later "lower campaign". The earliest known books printed there are in the book

"How Beautiful Our High Mountains", made 661.

This "upper campaign" consisted of Dr. Gopal and Anna Maria Vojner-Gerber, who's husband Gerber, died on Dec. 1864 and was buried in upper campaign.

On Jan 1, 1865, Dr. Gopal left only to give birth, March 23, 1864, died on April 5, 1864 and was buried in the same place as his mother, Dr. Vojner-Gerber died November 23, 1870 and was buried in the lower campaign as her husband.

In December 1868 Dr. Gopal died January 1, 1870.

The last battle probably, the horses left 1/3 of the campaign 1/3 of September 28, and took place during Mexican War. This last was commanded by Simon Schuster, later a 1003 at 10:00 a.m., and as recorded on page 433 and page 434 as recorded in the Massaponay County Recorder's Office, Hager City, U.P.

The campaign and the last engagement to be recorded the battle overrunning of the fort and the road leading to it was the last and the road leading to it was last fought since since that time.
